'Tired of just surviving': how care leavers are fighting back against austerity

Respondents to the Survey of Workers in OOH indicated that gaps in the service network could hinder their ability to provide essential services to young people when they needed them. Its library and information service provides an important resource for residential staff across Scotland.

Factors that influence young people leaving care

Consistent in these accounts were the difficulties faced while still at school and how these early experiences had affected care leavers' ability to complete school, find work or re-enter education.

Instruments for research on transition: Applied methods and approaches for exploring the transition of young care leavers to adulthood

Only a small number of parents participated in the second and third waves of qualitative interviews and all lived with their children.

Narratives of care leavers: What promotes resilience in transitions to independent lives?

Because of their disrupted childhoods, a number of young people were already struggling with their schoolwork when they entered care. However, the difficulties of achieving this should not be underestimated. Residential care leaver, female, 20, Wave 2 The importance of relationships with key workers is described in the following chapter.
