Web Based Training (WBT)

Access to new technologies: Training can be done on several computer platforms such as Windows, Macintosh and UNIX and can be accessed by using Netscape Navigator, Internet Explorer, Lynx, America Online, etc.

Web

Since the learning takes place online, employees from different departments and across geographical locations can all participate at the same time. With great training and reinforcing that knowledge in performance, employees become well-informed and engage in peer-to-peer learning.

What Web

CBT is also referred to as computer-aided instruction, as it not only provides training, but also monitors the progress of the trainees, provides appropriate feedback, and assesses the results to check how effective training has been.

Training

The advent of technology and science has rendered the traditional way of classroom learning, obsolete. The WBTs are gaining fast popularity for their effectiveness and deliverables.

'Just in Time' Web

By using an eLearning software, like Lessonly, retention levels can be measured, honest feedback can be elicited, and internal learning can be advanced upon. Training is not only lectures, workshops or coaching.

5 Benefits of Web

Virtual classrooms Using built-in teleconferencing features, trainers and trainees no longer need to be in the same location; classes can be held virtually, through a Web browser. For more information on CCP Trainings, please email to check availability.
