Unfinished Wood Table Legs

Please note: in a corner miter installation, the lamination within the butcher block will not align because the wood staves that make-up each block are of random width. So, think of guitars made with rosewood, and other items weighing less than 22 pounds. Once the solution is mixed and ready, simply brush a liberal amount onto the wood surface, and wait for a color to develop.

Bleaching Wood

The wheels are then packaged for shipment. So...Are the woods I was sent NOT what they claimed? Chlorine bleach, full strength, easily removes most dye-based stain right but will not bleach raw wood white center, nor will it remove pigment-based stain left. Additionally, the effects of clear-coating or applying nitro to a flame maple finish are also up for debate.

Are Rosewoods (and Bubinga) really banned by CITES?

When it is even, then lightly scuff sand before applying your stain. The less dense red maple has better numbers. Added on April 17, 2007 This week the question comes from Robert.

Hard maple

Warping is caused by the expansion of either the top or bottom surface. Many times these guitars are stained in such a way that an otherwise plain cut of maple or cherry wood, for example, can be made to look just as compelling as the solid wood options at a fraction of the cost. But before you write this latest development off as nothing of note, you ... Read more » It ONLY relates to crossing borders i.
