One of the conditions for signing the Abraham Accords for the UAE was a guarantee of weapons sales, including new F-35 fighter jets from the previous administration.

Evolution of Public Policy

While some media outlets follow policies that reflect particular political agendas, almost all media, no matter how objective they try to be, make and demonstrate policies by what stories they choose to cover, what features of those stories they choose to emphasize, where they maintain regular bureaus or reporters, and the words and pictures they use to describe what they report. Deputy Director, Mexico Institute - Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars For more than a half-century following the Mexican Revolution, the country's foreign policy was based on the principal of noninterventionism, a not so subtle way of telling the United States and others not to meddle in Mexico's domestic affairs.
