Tawassul

Ibn 'Abd al-Wahhab also said that the Prophet saws hears the voice of those who send blessings on him.

Tawassul

Accordingly, some prominent Imami jurisprudents like Shaykh Hurr al-'Amīlī, Ayatullah Abu al-Hasan Isfahani and Sayyid Khumayni have used the title wasilah for their jurisprudential treatises such as Wasa'il al-Shia, Wasilah al-Najat and Tahrir al-Wasilah, respectively. Ibn Taymiyyah in Qa'idah Jalilah, Ibn 'Abd al-Wahhab in Kashf al-Shubahat and Muhammad Rashid Rida in Tafsir al-Manar, opine that although during the life of Prophet Muhammad saws, his companions would address him for their needs, after his death they never approached his tomb for their needs. Alusi al-Baghdadi quotes Ibn 'Abd al-Salam as saying that it is permissible to invoke Allah for the sake of the Prophet saws, Since Prophet Muhammad saws is the leader of the children of Adam.

Yusuf Islam

In the opinion of the founder of the Wahhabi sect, Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Wahhab, and other likeminded 'ulama' of the past, it is permissible to seek help from fellow humans, as during wars and other affairs, if the person or the group who is being asked or entreated has the power and ability to help. Farid Wajdi mentions in his encyclopedia, In our era God has opened two of the windows of knowledge for us and the proof of this two windows confirms beyond an iota of doubt that man has a soul which without the need of the physical body can lead its own independent life.

Kitāb al

In contrast, tawassul is made by those who never regard the Prophets as partners of Allah in creation and in running world affairs, and neither do they worship the Last Prophet saws. The took control in January 2014. Likewise, it is recommended to seek intercession shafā'at through the pious persons such as the Ahl al-Bayt as of the Prophet saws. This is similar to the actions of those who make tawassul to those in the graves in order to seek proximity to Allah.

Likewise, as stated by prominent Imami or Shia jurists, the laws of the Shar'ah are the wasilah, on the basis of adherence to which, proximity of Almighty Allah is attained. Abu Yusuf quoting his teacher Abu Hanifah says: It is not right for someone to call upon God through any other means than God. The claim that the companions of the Prophet saws never supplicated in this manner is the understanding and deduction of Ibn Taymiyyah.

According to the prominent Sunni scholar, Sayyid Muhammad Alusi al-Baghdadi, wasilah is a means of imploring in order to gain nearness to God through good deeds and abstaining from sins. .
