and surveyor of the Churnet Valley railway line, opened in 1849. He had made positive contributions to the University during his term in a number of capacities as Professor of English from 1969 to 1982, Deputy Vice Chancellor 1973 - 1979 and vice Chancellor from 1982 - 1983. The Newcastle road, which crosses the Churnet at Wall bridge, was presumably the medieval Wall Street, where there was a burgrave in the 13th century and where several people were living in the 1330s.

His son Jonathan was a silk weaver living in Leek in 1682, and there are references to other silk weavers in the late 17th and early 18th century.

William Sugden came to Leek as architect
