Procedural animation: towards studio solutions for believability

English Literary Renaissance is a journal devoted to current criticism and scholarship of Tudor and early Stuart English literature, 1485-1665, including Shakespeare, Spenser, Donne, and Milton. But recent studies demonstrate the considerable narrative variety and cultural complexity of fiction from Morindos to Mackenzie. .

Narrative and ideology / Jeremy Tambling

The fruits of this rebirth are many: oft-studied authors such as Dekker and Godwin stand to lose the old stereotypes into which readers have so long fitted them while neglected works—Mary Wroth's Urania, Margaret Cavendish's Blazing World, and Anna Weamys' Continuation of Sir Philip Sidney's Arcadia—stand to gain a readership thanks to their first modern editions. This peer-reviewed journal considers all aspects of Arthurian and chivalric cultures from the Middle Ages to the current moment. Abstract This thesis sets out to investigate the understanding of the relationship between key-frame movement performances and procedural animation.
