The Congregation of Priests of St. Basil of Viviers, France, 1922

Doubtless the Nicene Creed was then, as now, the expression of Catholic faith ; but it was not the only expression of this faith, since the bishops from all parts of the world met together at Chalcedon, had published a defini- tion of faith, more detailed, more extensive, in some points, than that of Nice ; and the Catholic world had adopted the pro- fession of Chalcedon. Ignatius, by a schismatical council. His writings are the fullest source of our knowledge of the Roman liturgy and the structure of the Church in the second and third centuries.
