Saint Paul the Apostle

Although all stages of analysis may be relevant to both the literal and spiritual senses, these first three analytical stages—historical, grammatical, and rhetorical—intend primarily to establish the literal sense, while the next three—canonical, liturgical, and magisterial—intend primarily to establish the spiritual senses. On the other hand, as a Christian believer, he maintained that Christians occupied a special place in God's favor since they had become the carriers of the salvation of Jesus, which had become predominant in God's scheme for man. From both Jews and Gentiles, Paul suffered severe physical and social hardships: being whipped, stoned, imprisoned, treated with indignity, and banished on several occasions.
