Textual Records: Nationwide improved mail services publicity file, 1961. Even though, the current Central Government has slashed the interest rates of small savings schemes; but these small savings schemes like Kisan Vikas Patra are still lucrative than fixed deposits of banks. In February 2013, the Postal Service announced that on Saturdays it would only deliver packages, mail-order medicines, Priority Mail, and Express Mail, effective August 10, 2013.

Records of the Post office Department [POD]

The Post Office was one of the first government departments to regulate materials on a national basis. Budget problems prompted consideration of dropping Saturday delivery starting around 2009. To compensate for high mail volume and slow long-distance transportation which saw mail arrive at post offices throughout the day, deliveries were made multiple times a day.

Post Office reports 'strong' Christmas performance

The online tracking system displays the first initial and last name of the signatory. The changes are a result of the declining volumes of single-piece First-Class Mail, population shifts, the increase in drop shipments by advertising mailers at destination postal facilities, advancements in equipment and technology, redundancies in the existing network, and the need for operational flexibility.
