

Ara Tika - Māori and libraries : a research report

New Zealand Library & Information Association - matariki

Description: -

-

Sports & Outdoor Recreation

Finance

Careers guidance

USA

The Arts

Jurisprudence & General Issues

Maori (New Zealand people) and libraries. Ara Tika - Māori and libraries : a research report

- Ara Tika - Māori and libraries : a research report

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 87-90).

This edition was published in 1993

Filesize: 51.72 MB

Tags: #Breaking #Views: #Mole #News

World Libraries: Te Ara Tika: Maori and Libraries in New Zealand

In Disconnected: Haves and have-nots in the information age. The results of implementing biculturalism into an institution can have flow-on beneficial effects strengthening the relationship with and empowering of the local community. Libraries would do well to develop relationships with these guardians as essentially our goals are very similar.

Community Scoop » Disability Rights Report Highlights Challenges Under Lockdown

. Te Kawa Matakura aims to grow and nurture young Māori leaders and role models, through the teaching and learning of local traditional knowledge, language and customs. If tino rangatiratanga indigenous sovereignty is to achieve full effect within the policy domain, then Māori must have a well-established asset base, they must be in control of the decision-making process, including resource allocation, service delivery must address the diversities of Māori realities, and Māori must be the recipients of policy decisions made.

matariki

People are inclined to spend more time relaxing in the inner city and no longer see it only as a place to shop but as a place which complements peoples' lifestyles. The model has been presented to indigenous communities in Australia, Canada, and the United States.

Indigenous librarianship

.

Engaging Māori in biobanking and genomic research: a model for biobanks to guide culturally informed governance, operational, and community engagement activities

In her submission Isobel said the mural is a mix of traditional Māori and illustrative elements which create a contemporary design acknowledging indigenous wisdom around environmental issues in our current times. . .

Fairhaven School

. In other cases, Indigenous communities repatriate digital copies from collecting institutions or churches, or from individual collectors such as anthropologists, missionaries and others.

Popular Topics : Maori music

Increasing attention is now being paid to the utility of data and to its relevance. However, LIANZA is concerned that the related rights provisions of the Bill reflect the realities that it is often difficult, impractical, onerous or impossible to accurately identify all performers. .

Related Books

- Taxes Acts - Development Land Tax.
- Sting-fish and seafarer
- Kenshō Koizumi seiji kaikaku - kindai Nihon seiji hattenshi ni okeru Koizumi Naikaku no chii
- Violence de l'interprétation - du pictogramme à l'énoncé
- Good grammar in one hour