Hopalong Cassidy novels by Louis L'Amour

In The Rustlers of West Fork, the quick-thinking, fast-shooting cowpuncher heads west to deliver a fortune in bank notes to his old friend, Dick Jordan. Suddenly the banker found himself wishing he was younger and starting West with Hopalong on that ride.

It's what you're trying to protect him from. L'Amour would not admit he wrote this Hopalong Cassidy book while he was alive because he felt that it was just fulfilling a contract. L'Amour actually refused to admit authorship of the Hopalong Cassidy novels during his lifetime.

Over the course of his career roughly 1906 - 1941 Mulford wrote more than two dozen novels, the majority of which were about Hopalong Cassidy and the other characters from the Bar 20 ranch. I don't think Mulford used the limp for a good many years, especially in his later stories.

The Rustlers of West Fork

There are dastardly bad guys, cattle brand switching, a survival trek through the snowy mountains, a damsel to be rescued, and gunfights aplenty. His silver guns were worn by much handling, and his boots were cracked and dusty. The Rustlers of West Fork by Tex Burns Louis La'Mour is about a silver haired gunfighter and cowhand named Hopalong Cassidy.
