Apply to ISA employees.
The ISA internal auditor conducts targeted inspections regarding various aspects of ISA conduct and that of its staff, all in sole discretion under the supervision of the ISA Audit Committee. The findings of inspections are identified, as necessary, by the ISA general secretary under the authority granted in this purpose.
The ISA makes use of information technology (IT) systems to prevent the unauthorized disclosure of information. The ISA also requires all staff members to personally sign a confidentiality agreement, the breach of which may be subject to criminal enforcement.
The ISA chairman is responsible for handling the investigation of disciplinary violations of the type mentioned above. Under Section 17 of the Law, the ISA chairman is entitled to convene or issue a warning to an employee suspected of a disciplinary violation, after giving the employee an opportunity to be heard. Alternatively, under Section 12, the ISA chairman can file a complaint to the prosecutor of the disciplinary court, either at his or her initiative or in response to a complaint against the employee. If warranted, the prosecutor initiates an action in the disciplinary court, which is responsible for adjudicating the case.
Sanctions
Some breaches of standards involve criminal offenses and are subject to criminal sanctions. An ISA employee suspected of a disciplinary offense under Section 17 (b) (behavior unbefitting), 17 (c) (other offenses) or 17 (d) (other offenses) must be reported to the Civil Service Discipline Law, which may result in charges in the disciplinary court established under that law. A wide range of sanctions is available.
Assessment	Fully implemented.
Comments
Principles of Self-Regulation
Principle 6: The regulatory regime should make appropriate use of Article 6 that exercises some direct oversight responsibility for their respective areas of competence, and to the extent appropriate to the size and complexity of the market.
SRs
Israel's only stock exchange, TASE, plays a significant role as an SRO.
As well as being responsible for regulation of its members and clearing houses under the supervision of the ISA, TASE authorizes its broker-dealer members, who are not required to hold a license issued by the ISA (other than in relation to their advice-giving activities).
TASE
establishes eligibility rules which must be met by broker-dealers who are members of TASE, and members of the two clearing houses that are wholly owned subsidiaries of TASE. TASECH, which clears and settles TASE transactions, serves as a central depository for public securities and handles the creation and redemption of mutual funds, and provides clearing and settlement for other trading platforms such as the IFX market. COT trading between institutional investors and stock trading in TASE listed securities, and the MACHA, which clears and settles derivatives markets, establishes and enforces trading rules relating to trading on its markets and the conduct of business of members of TASE and the clearing houses, establishes a framework for dealing with member breaches of its rules, and conducts disciplinary proceedings through a disciplinary board.
