AACSB Accreditation Standards and Requirements

Because observation of an agency's on-site evaluations and decision meetings by staff is a critical component of the review of the agency's application, it is imperative that an agency seeking initial recognition submit a list of scheduled evaluations and decision meetings with its application for recognition.

Standards of Accreditation

The Education Quality Accreditation Commission suggests that good quality study material should include: an appropriate and well-managed presentation; subdivision into appropriate units, lessons or modules; a sequential exposition, with new material building on previous material; the use of a variety of approaches, including summaries, visual material, and illustrative examples as appropriate, to illuminate particular concepts and the inclusion of clear instructions to guide the learner through the material. Ostensible financial stability is not achieved at the expense of educational quality. They should plan to submit their applications for renewal of recognition approximately two years in advance of the summer or winter meeting of the NACIQI that precedes that expiration date.
