Proofs of Prophecy and the Refutation of the Ismā'īliyya : The Kitāb Ithbāt Nubuwwat al

Twelve Guarantors Nuqabā' Each of the twelve tribes of the Children of Isrā'īl had a naqīb. In the latter case, one not only ends up contradicting revelation and seeking to explain it away through an increasingly liberal use of the principle of ta'wīl but also falls prey, at the same time, to increasingly intractable rational contradictions, divergences, and improbabilities. See van Ess, Die Erkenntnislehre des 'Aḍudaddīn al-Īcī, 409.

Chapter 3 On the Incoherence of the Universal Rule and the Theoretical Impossibility of a Contradiction between Reason and Revelation in: Ibn Taymiyya on Reason and Revelation

The Book given to Mūsā, upon him peace, is called a detailed explanation tafṣīlan of all things Q 6:154 , that is, a comprehensive interpretation bayānan mufaṣṣalan of everything that is needed in matters of religion Bayḍāwī, Nasaḥī, Tafṣīr ; containing all legal regulations of the religion jamī' al-sharā'i' al-dīn Khāzin, Tafṣīr. Beirut: Dār al-Kutub al- 'Ilmiyya, 1405 AH. Mutual fulfillment of the Covenant is mentioned in Q 2:40: O Children of Isrā'īl, Remember My blessings which I bestowed upon you, and fulfill My Covenant and I shall fulfill your Covenant, and be in awe of Me.

Poetic Memories of the Prophet's Family: Ibn Ḥajar al

The previous argument revolved around the question whether revelation is known to be authentic, that is, a question of textual integrity, or thubūt.

Such indicants would include, for instance, proof texts adduced from the Qur'ān or ḥadīth to establish the reality of events like the day of judgement or other such matters that we can know about only through revelation.

Poetic Memories of the Prophet's Family: Ibn Ḥajar al

Taking Allegiance of Imam Ali a Reports on avoidance of from giving allegiance and the manner and time of his allegiance with Abu Bakr are different and sometimes contradictory. Even the Mu'tazila and other negationists concede that such affirmationism constitutes the obvious sense of scripture.

Iequran

During these forty years of wandering, Mūsā and Hārūn, upon them peace, died, as did every adult over the age of twenty who had left Egypt with them, as per general accounts in the exegetical tradition. Rejection of the Heavenly food The Children of Isrā'īl asked for the produce of the earth while they were in the desert and complained about having to eat only the heavenly manna and quail, which was given them without any toiling cf. For other people with the name, see.

Poetic Memories of the Prophet's Family: Ibn Ḥajar al

Regardless of the appellation used for them, the Qur'ān is ultimately concerned with the beliefs and deeds of the Children of Isrā'īl, both with regard to their pre-Qur'ānic history—which is extensively mentioned, especially through their interactions with Prophet Mūsā, upon him peace—and their response to its own revelation as the last and final divine Book that confirms earlier Scriptures Q 2:41, 89, 91, 97, 101; 3:3, 81; 6:92; 35:31; 46:30. Ibn Sa'd says that after the death of Abu Bakr, opened the treasury in the presence of the elders and there he found nothing but a Dinar left from a money bag.
