Peter de Wint (1784

In 1800, was apprenticed to the engraver John Raphael Smith, and around the same time enrolled at the Royal Academy school. The early 19th-century Hilton House was the Lincoln home of celebrated artist Peter de Wint De Wint was the son of an English physician of extraction who had come to England from New York.

Peter de Wint (1784

He was elected an Associate of the Old Watercolour Society in 1810 and was made a full member the following year. By 23 September, only 185 fine art sales had been announced for October 2003 compared to 263 a year earlier. He frequently visited his wife's home city of Lincoln, and many of his panoramic and haymaking scenes are set in Lincolnshire.

Peter De Wint

De Wint and Hilton lived together in Broad Street, Golden Square, where John Varley also lived. Peter De Wint was the son of a physician who, though born in New York of Dutch immigrant parents, was trained in Holland and London.

Art UK

He is particularly associated with views of the area around Lincoln where his wife's parents lived , in which he often uses broad washes of colour somewhat in the manner of Cotman.
