9 Kind Reasons To Be Nice To Everyone (Even The Jerks Who Are Mean To You)

Thank you for your answer.

What Most People Will Never Understand About Quiet People

I think my point is have confidence in yourself and what you are willing to tolerate of other people. At the end, you will defeat them To me, only in real life, blood, sweat and tears, witnessed with all of our senses, can we ever reach an understanding of each other that offers us valuable learning curves and a chance to make wise decisions.

How to Deal With Nasty People: 10 Steps (with Pictures)

It's highly unlikely that any human being has ever accomplished that task. Like Jean quoted above I too have seen people burst out laughing for practically nothing or inappropriately. His friends have commented to me that his lack of time management makes them feel like their time is of no significance and quite frankly pisses them off.

7 Things Truly Nice People Do Every Day That Make Us Adore Them

Independence scares you and you find it easier to go out of your way and be nice to someone who treats you badly instead of being lonely. After all, when this is all over, all that will really matter is how we treated each other. Many people may have heard of a stonewaller—a person who refuses to engage in conversation or share feelings when important issues come up.
