Ecology

Processing and manufacturing items with recycled material are also often less energy intensive than making products from all new materials.

Ecology

While being one of the largest in Southern California, it is also one of the most convenient to get to as well as in processing, weighing, and paying you for your CRV and scrap metal. A population is described by its size and by how its individuals are spread out over a given area. It is a great lens through which to view biodiversity in any ecosystem or planetary biodiversity.
