The New Suez Canal

Britain and France, less fortunate, lost most of their influence in the Middle East as a result of the episode.

SUEZ Water

The canal extends 120 miles 193 km between Būr Saʿīd in the north and in the south, with dredged approach channels north of Port Said, into the Mediterranean, and south of Suez. The latest effort not only widened and deepened areas along the existing canal, it also added a 35-kilometer 22-mile new canal that runs parallel to the old one. Building The Suez Canal It took 10 years to build the 101 mile long canal.

Industrial Water & Process Treatment Technologies & Solutions

Maritime transportation has a vital role to play in our daily life as it benefits every single person across the world. At the time of completion, the total cost of the project was more than twice original estimates. Ships were now able to transit through the Suez Canal.

Suez Canal (Port Said)

It is said that thousands of people were forcefully assigned to dig the canal using picks and shovels until Pasha banned the use of forced labour in 1863. Initially, the construction of the canal was carried out by forced labourers.

Where is the Suez Canal?

As you make your way through the waterway on a Suez Canal cruise, to the west you can view the green Nile Delta in Northern Egypt and the arid Sinai Peninsula in the Middle East. The canal does not take the shortest route across the , which is only 75 miles 121 km.

Despite the fact that the developments in the aviation industry have made the movement of people and goods faster, the shipping industry remains critical to the growth of economies. The historic documents suggest that the canal was extended, and several other attempts to build new canals were also carried out during these periods. The article or images cannot be reproduced, copied, shared or used in any form without the permission of the author and Marine Insight.

The New Suez Canal

New engineering surveys determined that the seas on both ends were indeed at the same level and no locks were required. Meanwhile, the financial problems linked with the construction of the canal allowed the British government to buy the stakes owned by Egyptian interests in 1875 to become the major shareholder in the Suez Canal Company. Construction of the Suez Canal The construction of the Suez Canal officially began on April 25, 1859.
