The Environment Strategy for Scotland: vision and outcomes

In October, the post - 2020 global biodiversity framework will be agreed at COP 15 in Kunming, China.

Digital Launch of new Digital Strategy for Scotland

In recognition of this the Climate Change Scotland Act 2009 placed a statutory duty on Scottish Ministers to produce and publish a Land Use Strategy. A nation which values play as a life-enhancing daily experience for all our children and young people: in their homes, nurseries, schools and communities.

The Environment Strategy for Scotland: vision and outcomes

Global assessments have highlighted the scale and urgency of action needed to avoid the worst impacts of climate change and to halt the loss of the Earth's biodiversity. This is the fifth blog in a short series taking a look at the key themes raised within the strategy and why a vibrant tech sector is vital to our recovery. What happens next Where respondents have given permission for their response to be made public, and after we have checked that they contain no potentially defamatory material, responses will be made available to the public at.

There were comments and requests for changes to be made to the detail, structure and presentation of the document where often no consensus could be reached. The responses played a key role in informing the content of the Strategy. It is a Strategy for all users: those travelling to, from and within Scotland.
