Prabhupada, you gave us the Hare Krishna mantra to love and to chant, and I am definitely not satisfied with the way I am chanting. Krishna has not forgotten us, and enters into the heart of each body as Paramatma. He did not make people feel guilty or deride their behavior, but he made them understand that to grasp the intricacies of spiritual knowledge and the spiritual way of life, one has to come to the human platform of goodness, compassion, and concern for other living beings.

This new anthology of love poems from India sweeps through histories, geographies and societies

Even uttered only once and by accident, the holy names remove all sins. Still some dancing does go on.
