Quantifying the Digestibility of Dietary Protein

The geochemistry of the waste plume, its substantial dissolved, chiefly ferrous iron, mildly acidic pH 5-6, and low redox composition, provides an environment similar to that previously determined for the low-temperature synthesis of nontronite. It is possible to extract 18 - 20 % oil from soybean, this oil contains 38 - 40 % proteins, with insignificant amount of cholesterol and its digestibility.
