Community sites offered a more flexible approach that community people recognize. The polytechnic may be able eventually to offer more and different programs, but not a wider range. Other questions come to mind.

Fewer poly graduates employed within 6 months of graduation amid COVID

Onsite investigation is needed in some cases, such as soil quality assessments and certain conservation and engineering applications. Kids want to get out of Dodge and the parents want the best education for their kids, maybe the same school where they went.

New polytechnic college being built on a false foundation

If feasibility was looked at as the first step, you land at students and cost.

New poly graduates had harder time securing employment last year amid COVID

This is the sixth Internet study the two organizations have conducted together. These institutions are, after all, castles of their colonial culture.
