Web of Deception (1989)

In 1975, Shih joined the Hong Kong television station and appeared in several -themed television series, playing villains again most of the time. Shih and his friends travelled between and Hong Kong to stage drama performances, in order to raise funds as part of the anti-Japanese movement. Wang, playing twin sisters, is superb and gorgeous, and Lin, in an atypical role, has great screen authority.

In 2019, Ju made a comeback to the small screen with two television series; 's zombie period drama , and MBC's fantasy legal drama. David Chung's direction is wickedly entertaining, especially the way Jane, May and Catherine who ends up pretending as Queenie trying to outwit each other in a cat-and-mouse game of duplicity the dinner scene is especially notable here and double-crossing. The poisoned dinner scene is wonderfully funny, and could be more so had they carried it a little further.

Web of Deception (1989)

Pu Yi, the last Emperor, was forced to flee the country. Joey Wang plays a doppelganger twin sisters one very good, the other very bad , Lin plays a domineering business executive who is being blackmailed by her most trusted secretary.

Ju Ji

I recommend this film to fans of either actress, or to those who like circa-1980s USA manipulative TV movies, which this is in that genre. Also informal appellation for acquaintances.

Web of Deception (1989)

She looks much more tall and slender without all those robes and sashes on. The film was the , and Ju became known for his role as Haewonmaek. The Chosun Ilbo in Korean.

Shih Kien

He appeared in the 2003 documentary at the age of 90.

Ming Chiang

Some of the plot developments are highly fanciful, but the bluish tint of the visuals and the sumptuous production design smooth over the minor misjudgments. All three lead actresses Brigitte Lin, Pauline Wong and Joey Wong deliver top-notch performances. In 2014, Ju was paired up with and in , a film that brutally explores the aftermath of three men's friendship after the death of one's mother.

李淑贤 1924

He beats her and demands that she pay him the money she owes him.
