Born 17 November 1885 in Antwerp, he received his first impressions from the stable, well-ordered world that his prosperous and cultured Flemish family enjoyed in the placid confidence of the era of the Pax Britannica and in the bland optimism of those carried to ever increasing well-being by the commercial and industrial affluence of Belgium. Cole, as well as by Keynes and in 1933 he and Cole published, through the New Fabian Research Bureau, a pamphlet, Planned Socialism, outlining the plan and recommending it to the British Labour Party.

Hendrik de Man

Another scene, equally impressed upon the memory - the placid setting of Amsterdam's Keizersgracht - arises with the recollection of the courtesy of the Internationaal Instituut voor Sociale Geschiedenis, whose director, the late A. Henri de Man Hendrik is the Flemish form was born in a well-to-do family in Antwerp in 1885. Educational Foundation in Belgium, and Henri Janne, then Director of the Institut de Sociologie Solvay, used their official powers to facilitate the process of research.

Hendrik de Man

The grey skies of Belgium come to mind with the acknowledgment that without the aid of two United States Government Fulbright Grants the study would have been stillborn.

Beyond Marxism: The Faith and Works of Hendrik de Man

Like Morris, he saw that the life of the workers was not only poverty stricken but degraded by the work they had to do and by the conditions under which they lived.
