disabled experts on independent living, to share experience and map out future strategies. Nishita, Homes of Choice: Toward More Effective Linkages Between Housing and Services, Journal of Housing for the Elderly 18, no.

Aging & Independent Living

These are the ADL items which have been proposed for use in determining eligibility for benefits in several proposed public insurance programs. Relative to other countries, community care services have been underdeveloped.

Ageing & Disability: A Discussion Paper

Seniors who are handicapped, disabled, or mentally disabled. Moreover, a significant proportion of the private housing for the elderly has been built with some form of federal assistance.

Aging & Independent Living

Personal needs dressing, eating, personal hygiene combined. The potential exists for the two partners to create programs providing residents access to medical and health-related services. Almost all the programs focus on providing special housing units.

Senior Living Articles

Data mainly on last year of life, 18,500 deceased, including 10,154 age 65+.
 Facing our futures brought together

European Network on Independent Living: disability rights

Many older people experience anguish, thinking that they are a burden or a drain on their loved ones, so a happy face and sunny disposition will ease everyone's feelings, even if such aspects and attitudes must be practiced.

A Synthesis of Findings from the Study of Affordable Housing Plus Services for Low and Modest

Everyone over the age of 70 is entitled to a medical card; this universal entitlement does not exist for people with disabilities aged between 65 and 70. Personal communication, Frances Pendergrass, Duke University, June 27, 1989.

Planning and an Aging Population

Sun City, Arizona, one of the largest retirement villages, is restricting the sale of housing units to persons 50 years and over; whether age restrictions on subsequent resales will be maintained is not yet discernible. This situation parallels, to some degree, that of other European countries.
