Food Standards Australia New Zealand Food Standards Australia New Zealand FSANZ is a statutory authority in the Australian Government Health portfolio. Finnerty was also asked whether Goodman had any secret shareholdings in other meat companies now similar to a hidden network that he controlled in the past called the Cork companies. The consumers have the right to know that the packaged drinking bottled water or mineral water they purchase is safe to consume and the portal helps in assuring the safety of water that adheres to strict quality assurance, through proper testing measures.

Horsemeat food scandal inquiry's 'slow pace' criticised by select committee

A worker in a food-processing plant produces minced meat. Asked what assurance he could give the committee that ABP's paper trail was more reliable than that of the previous company Goodman was involved in, Finnerty replied that the events raised were 25 years ago, many of the allegations made back then were not true and the old inquiry bore no relevance to the current inquiry into horsemeat.

The Conservative MP Anne McIntosh, the Efra select committee chairwoman, said retailers should be required in future to test the DNA of all their meat and meat-based products to check which species they were selling. These split responsibility for the composition and authenticity of foods away from the FSA, which was left with just food safety.
