Steps on the Path to Enlightenment: A Commentary on Tsongkhapa's Lamrim Chenmo, Volume 1: The Foundation Practices by Lhundub Sopa

In 1950, Mao Zedong's Communist forces made their first incursions into eastern Tibet, shortly after which the young Dalai Lama assumed the political leadership of his country. We cannot dispose of it simply like an old shirt. Geshe Sopa's approach is not only informed by his immense personal scholarship and insight, but also his anticipation, based on so many decades of teaching at an American university, of those subtle areas where a western student not directly trained within the debating rigours of the Tibetan monastic tradition might need some special assistance in approaching topics that confound even traditional established scholars and great meditators.
