Norway 5°E to 35°E made similar sector claims, as did the United States 170°W to 141°W , but that sector contained only a few islands, so the claim was not pressed. ### Territorial claims in the Arctic

Unlike the Russian claim which is generally limited to the Russia sector of the Arctic, the Danish Claim extends across the North Pole and into Russia's sector. A very down to earth guy. On this basis, four of the five states fronting the Arctic Ocean—Canada, Denmark, Norway, and the Russian Federation—must have made any desired claims by 2013, 2014, 2006, and 2007 respectively.

Immigrant Passage Contracts & Tickets

It involves transferring the responsibility for an area of operations AO between two commanders. The Canadian government formally protested these actions.
