Ideal Systems	Available with Siglosion	Capable of future Enhancement
When bibliographic information is needed for an acquisition, all available data are entered into a terminal. A bibliographic entry is searched and copy for the title or search result is displayed.	*
If the title is not in the network database, a workflow is displayed with all current information.	*
The information is usually checked online against standard publication files (Books In Print, etc.) for verification.	*
The exact or closest match is again displayed and more complete data are added to the record.	*
All available information is recorded on the workflow from the publisher, the book vendor and it is dumped into the library's own database.	*
If the searcher is an acquisition librarian, and the item sought is not in the library's holdings, purchase orders are generated. When the book arrives additional information is added.	*
Cataloging personnel then call up the same record and add local data information such as call number, copy, branch, item code identification, etc., and indicate that the copy may be given out.	*
Patrons from on-site or remote locations search for public access catalog via author, subject, title or virtually any term or combination of terms. The system displays the results, in process, on a roving cart or in the stacks ready for circulation.	*
Circulation calls up the same record when the item is checked out. The same file is used to record serial holdings and generate claims for items not received within a stated period.	*
When items are withdrawn the same record is called up and deleted. The system indicates that the item has been withdrawn.	*
The patron is able to know the status of a title at any time in the process.	*
 There is no bibliographic utility yet in Malaysia but Siglosion has the capacity for this function.
