The 6 biggest challenges of the New Primary Curriculum

These examples are listed below. EDP — Evaluation of Entrepreneurial Development Programmes Evaluation of EDPs begins with an assessment of philosophy or the central objective of the programme.

Primary Syllabi

Te Whāriki: He whāriki mātauranga mō ngā mokopuna o Aotearoa.

The Science Curriculum in Primary and Lower Secondary Grades

There should be balanced regional development and setting up of more units which leads to the development of backward areas through EDP. In this rigid system, critical and questioning attitudes towards society were discouraged. The motivational inputs will be aimed at increasing the participants' understanding of the entrepreneurial personality and entrepreneurial behaviour and bring about through self-study, changes in self-concept, value, skills thereby leading to positive entrepreneurial behaviour.

The Science Curriculum in Primary and Lower Secondary Grades

There was a dominant focus on the natural world, the environment, and sustainability. There is a problem of non-availability of competent teachers and even they are available, they are not prepared to take classes in the rural and backward areas.
