Heart rate: What's normal?

I am not sure if he is having low energy because of low heartbeat or heart beat is going down because of the fatigue. It is not normal to have a heart rate of 160 bpm at rest.

What your heart rate is telling you

My resting heart rate had dropped to the lowest 40.

What your heart rate is telling you

The first thing is to determine if you are in sinus rhythm i. Count how many beats you feel in 15 seconds.

Heart & Blood Vessels: How the Heart Beats

I do have a heart benign murmur I got when I was two with rheumatic fever. Your resting heart rate at 43 bpm is excellent and is likely related to your optimal physical conditioning.

The Normal Heart (TV Movie 2014)

I have mitral valve prolapse and take 25mg atenolol every morning. The examination should proceed from below upward and from left to right.

Normal Heart Rhythm

For example, your heart rate could be low because of hypothyroidism, which could also explain your depression. Yes, I am in great running shape, but I am no pro athlete. It is well-known that the average resting heart rate for well-trained athletes is between 40-60 beats per minute! The heart rate elevations with just standing and minimal activity are higher than you would expect for your age.
