It is also the poster child for climate change. Although the New Melones Dam was eventually built and the lake filled in 1982, one of the campaign's most influential achievements was to crack open the debate about the cost effectiveness and benefits to society of large dam projects around the globe. Chapter 5 discusses wildlife and such protected lands and critical areas as parks, wilderness, and wetlands.

The Conservation Foundation

In recent years, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland and Vermont have passed legislation to remove pesticide products containing neonics from retail stores and allow their use by only licensed pesticide applicators for lawn care or on turf, trees, shrubs and gardens. The main campaigns include California's Proposition 17, California's Senate Bill 1482 and Assembly Bill 4460, House Resolution 4223 and California's Proposition 13 unrelated to California's Proposition 13 to limit property taxation in the state which passed in 1978.

Importance of biodiversity

It challenged the optimism of the 1950s, the view that economic growth was an essential goal, and the confidence that the impact of growth could be managed effectively. For most of his career, Laurance sought to combine environmental conservation and recreational use.
