Later in 1998, Sheikh Nazim traveled to South Africa, accompanied by Sheikh Hisham Kabbani and a large contingent of students from around the globe. The sheikh, despite his advanced age, was able to maintain an incredibly hectic schedule of meetings, speeches, dhikr gatherings and spiritual gatherings with little or no rest for a period of forty days and covering a distance of over 15,000 miles. At 24 she moved to London to study interior design with the sons and daughters of royalty at the American University, where she built a network of friends worthy of any socialite.
