She was there less than two weeks when, on January 5, 1931, she was arrested by Federal officers in San Diego for cocaine possession and conspiracy to smuggle morphine from Mexico into the United States. Rubens' artworks may be divided into three groups: those painted by Rubens himself, those which he helped to paint typically painting hands and faces , and those he merely supervised. The renovation promptly offered itself in the form of, first, a diplomatic mission to Spain, and then, remarriage, to a charming and amiable young woman.
