PICTORIAL CHICAGO ALBUMS: A VISUAL EXPERIENCE FOR TOURISTS

The first Rand McNally map, created using a new cost-saving wax engraving method, appeared in the December 1872 edition of its Railroad Guide. The seller was quick to ship out, I believe it only took a week and a half roughly to arrive. A few pages have minor writing on them.

Very neat package, and lovingly packed so the item would not be damaged upon arrival.

Angelucci, Enzo [WorldCat Identities]

Rand McNally was the first major map publisher to embrace a system of numbered highways. The shop did big business with the forerunner of the , and in 1859 Rand and McNally were hired to run the Tribune 's entire printing operation.

AEA intended to capitalize on Rand McNally's brand recognition by bringing digital mapping to the masses and attracting public investors during the. With declining sales of photographs and postcards, and newer and cheaper printing methods used by competitors in the 1920s, the Detroit Publishing Company went into receivership in 1924, and liquidated in 1932 with the onset of the Great Depression. Buyers are responsible for return shipping costs.
