As You Were: Cannon Company, 34th Infantry Division, 168th Infantry Regiment ...

The 1st Battalion joined the attack and made some progress but it took a major effort to drive the Germans from the mountain. The 135th Infantry passed through the 168th Infantry and pushed on up the hill, trying to reach Highway 6 and isolate the Abbey.

Silver Star

Even though the 36th had suffered heavy casualties the Germans were not even aware that this attack had been a major effort. During this time of critical road conditions, traffic discipline became more than a matter of convenience and safety - it was a military necessity.
