Afghanistan Mazar

Actually, in my opinion, the best one! The time-consuming process of getting Afghan commanders up to snuff on running a modern military and police force means foreign advisers need all the time they can get, Karlquist said. Elections for both houses of the legislature were held in 1965 and 1969.

NATO presence in Afghanistan gives Afghan forces ‘another year of improvement’

Fighting lasted for several hours near the city of Mazar-e Sharif in northern Balkh province. The adviser teams need time to accumulate enough of those small victories to create large-scale changes within the Afghan security forces.
