The Land Act, Traditional Authorities and the Native Affairs Department (NAD) 1913

The colonial minority has entrenched 87% of the land for itself.

On the ANC centenary

Programme Director, Africa is the Mother of Humanity. Macfarlan, who has an excellent knowledge of municipal affairs, has rendered the Flinders shire excellent service. The chiefs were too weak to protect themselves against the Boers, and too unscrupulous to fulfil their obligations to the British Government.

Association of Mineworkers and Construction Union

David may have thought he'd done enough or perhaps he was so busy with subdivisions that he couldn't devote the usual amount of time to council business.

Boer Genocide: Zuma sings 'Shoot Boer': Afrikaners get killed daily

MS VAN DER WALT: Mr Chairman, my client will claim in addition, or state in addition that after having been taken out at night, Captain Deetlefs continually used hard liquor.

Introduction

Natal, on the other hand, was retained. The Senate, as originally constituted under the Act of Union, consists of sixteen members from each province, eight nominated by the Governor-General in Council, and eight elected prior to the establishment of the Union by the respective parliaments of the four colonies, the two houses in each case having sat together in special session as one body ; and has thus a total of sixty-four members, of whom half are nominated and half elected. On 10 October, the Rhodesian government announced plans to end all remaining discriminatory laws.
