The Parson's Tale

He may also have travelled north to Ulster with Norris in August and September to confront Sorley Boy MacDonnell, who had landed on the Antrim coast with a large force of Scots in July, and returned to Dublin in October. I know thy works and tribulation and poverty ANTIQUITIES OF ASIA MINOR. But whatever provocation these opinions of the Bi- shop might give the Clergy thus to treat his Lordship, it seems as if the King and his nobles were offended with him on another account, viz.

Priests and Penance: Confession and Confessors

There was soon a cluster of them around the new garrison town of Fermoy, which the entrepreneur John Anderson who had bought the estate from Lord Fermoy in 1791 began to develop after 1797.

Elizabeth Bishop's Art of Losing

I am so much fatigued from the labour the Court sitting from 12 to 15 hours each day that I am not able to give you a note of the trial - however, I cannot withhold from you the following particulars which occurred in the progress of the trials on Friday last.

Tracts on Liberty by the Levellers and their Critics Vol. 1 (1638)

We have heard various editions of this, but the substance of it is something like the following— One enters first to speak the prologue in the style of the Chester mysteries, called the Whitsun plays, and which appear to have been performed during the mayoralty of John Arneway, who filled that office in Chester from 1268 to 1276.

The Library of Knighthood

Major Wilcocks will commence an Inspection of the Constabulary force in the County Limerick in a few days. This letter was conveyed through the Parish Priest; to whom also a letter was written by the Noble Earl, desiring the Reverend Gentleman to consider the lodge as his house whilst his Bishop would remain. I asked him if he thought I had come all the way from Kentucky to eat dinners of five courses.

Molineux

For this purpose, it appears, he was proceeding early on that morning to the edge of the sea. Young's seventh satire is inscribed to him. For, First, If I may but once goe against the Dictate of Right Reason, and yet not sinne, I may goe ten thousand times, yea Ever against it; and so all my acts may be Irrationall, and yet not sinfull: a strange Tenet: and sure a Case never to be found but in a distracted man; who sinnes not, though all his Acts be against Reason, because His Reason is not able to direct him; or at least He not able to follow Reason; and in this case God requires it not.
