Bacchelli is also the author of , the powerful, also if a little farraginous, of millers, from to the , one of the most epic novels of the last century. A few writers create historical fiction without fictional characters.

24 of the Best Historical Fiction Books

The first is the development of a specific genre in a specific medium—the historical novel's unique stylistic and narrative elements.

What Is Historical Fiction?

Victor Hugo began writing The Hunchback of Notre-Dame in 1829, largely to make his contemporaries more aware of the value of the , which was neglected and often destroyed to be replaced by new buildings, or defaced by replacement of parts of buildings in a newer style. Westport, CT: Libraries Unlimited, 2005, p. It won the PEN award for translation in and was included by Oprah on her book club list shortly afterward.

50 Heart

The novel is an impressive feat for any author, especially one making their English language debut. The writer should know things like what the people ate and wore, and how they talked, so readers are willing to believe in the story and keep reading.
