Publications

This resource exists as a service to the Department of Anthropology at the University of Michigan, offering opportunities for students and faculty both to become editor of a compiled volume in their specialty and to publish their own work, thus furthering their professional advancement. This study concerns the controversial case of Alger Hiss, who was suspected of spying for Soviet Military Intelligence.

Reports

However, it includes only currently active titles. The journal encourages scholars to pursue subjects of broad interest to colleagues working in other places and times, and to pursue comparative and connective approaches in investigating the past.

Literature of Science

The focus of the survey was generally on issues affecting technical services, specifically exploring the impact of electronic serials on collection development, library staffing, and serials management tools.

Written principally by graduate students, faculty, and curators affiliated with the museums and the Department of the History of Art at the University of Michigan, the Bulletin was peer reviewed and distributed internationally. Hosted by University of Michigan Library through the 2017 volume, newer volumes can be found at Volume 44- 2014-. If you are researching Abraham Lincoln, this book would be a secondary source because Wills is offering his views about Lincoln and the Gettysburg Address.

Not all journals in the have these broad subject terms in addition to the more specific MeSH terms. .

Ithaca College Library

In addition to selected scholarly articles -- on Lincoln in the popular media, for example, or British reactions to the War -- the journal also features photographs and newly discovered Lincoln letters and documents. Primary sources include historical and legal documents, eyewitness accounts, results of experiments, statistical data, pieces of creative writing, audio and video recordings, speeches, and art objects.

Its purpose is to advance and promote informed scholarship on all aspects of Manchu studies, including but not limited to history, literature, linguistics, philology, anthropology, religious studies, art history, folklore, material culture, and cultural studies. Students occupy all editorial leadership roles for the journal and supply all content. The Michigan Meetings both support and enhance the ability of University of Michigan faculty to address such issues.
