When our unwonted absence was noted, Lycas sent out runners to comb the sea-shore, for he suspected that we had been to the wreck, but he was still unaware of the robbery, which was yet unknown because the stern of the wreck was lying away from the beach, and the master had not, as yet, gone back aboard. He manipulated my member for a long time, but all in vain. Finally, he ravished me, and worked his entire pleasure upon me.
