Thankfully, we have some of the very best conservation organisations in the world and groups like the BTO are at the leading edge of research into how we could, if we are minded, reverse these trends. However, it is the first time since their that they have polled at less than 50% in the poll by the leading market research company.

Religion in the United Kingdom

It may be that we have long had a very intensive farming culture that was among the first to mechanise and use chemical herbicides, pesticides and fertilisers upsetting local ecological balances. In Scotland the, established in a separate in the sixteenth century, is recognized as the
