Ha

Incline your ears unto the Voice from the divine Lote-Tree which overshadoweth the world and be not of the people of tyranny on earth. This is the outspread Tablet.

The Verse of Light, the Sadratul'

Yúsuf' Alí includes at the completion of his translation of this Surah an extensive commentary about and by the erudite Imám Ghazálí, an Arab Persian born philosopher, 450-505 A. Hitti discusses this outgrowth in Sufism and states that the illumination doctrine found ready acceptance among varied ranks of Muslim society and that its adoption and exposition by Muslim philosophers such as ibn-Sin Avicenna gave it prestige. Ha-Shahar also published letters of Jewish scholars and authors of the early Haskalah: S.

As the LORD spoke through His servants the prophets » Kehila News Israel

Increase Thou this fire, as day followeth day, till the blast of it setteth in motion all the earth. O ye peoples of the earth! Of course, in Jewish tradition, these two thoughts naturally connect. Some of the many references in the Bahá'í Writings on the Sadratul'-Muntahá follow.

Avodah/Worship

The number of subscribers to the annual fluctuated between 800 to 1,300. While he did not add much to the metaphysical theory of light, he made it popular. From the Writings and Discourses of 'Abdu'l-Bahá: The tree of life is the highest degree of the world of existence: the position of the Word of God, and the universal Manifestation.
