The aim was not just to defeat Rommel but to do so in such a way that would degrade his army so it was no longer a threat in North Africa. The New Zealand Division group had hoped to reach their objective by mid-morning on 5 November but was held up by artillery-fire when picking their way through what turned out to be a dummy minefield and the 15th Panzer Division got there first. Then we had orders to carry out an orderly retreat and lure the enemy armour to a point where they had little room to manoeuvre.

El Alamein

Push to Germany As most of the Allied troops in rapidly became American, political forces prevented Montgomery from remaining Ground Forces Commander. They encounter a bersagliere on a , who tells them that the British forces have already occupied Fuka, and the order is now to retreat to — 100 more kilometres on foot through the desert. Moving through a variety of peacetime postings, he was promoted to lieutenant colonel in 1931 and rejoined the Royal Warwickshire Regiment for service in the and India.
